Article 2 approved by attorney general

By LIZZY HILL
News Correspondent

WILMINGTON — Wilmington Board of Selectman Michael McCoy announced in a press release this week that Massachusetts Attorney General Maura Healey approved the Article 2 zoning from the Dec. 16 Special Town Meeting.

This article described "the rezoning of all medical facilities and drug detox facilities to take them from all residential zones, business zones and locate them in commercial and highway districts," according to McCoy's statement.

However, this by-law only applies to future and not ongoing projects.

He shared from his experience as lead petitioner to get Article 2 passed that the original article needed some changes.

"A recovering addict could possibly go into cardiac arrest during the detoxification process. It would be far safer to have emergency treatment right there in the facility rather than needing to summons an ambulance and waste precious time waiting," his press release reads.

Taking in this advice, he created a new article that would make it possible to meet of the needs that someone in this facility could have in one space.

It was then at the Special Town Meeting that McCoy withdrew his original article

Fun before the Fourth

By LIZZY HILL
News Correspondent

WILMINGTON — Wilmington's Fourth of July Committee presents this year's Fun on the Fourth celebration starting Friday, June 29 and ending Monday July 2.

This year promises tradition, community, and a new line up of live performances that will, according to Fourth of July Committee Chairman Scott Garratt, be "an example of what Wilmington is all about."

While Garratt insisted that the committee has been practicing the principle "if it is not broken, don't fix it," besides new live performances, he's excited to bring in more community groups this year as participants. He believes that the event is meant to be a chance for residents of all ages to come together and show support for their community, and that this is exactly what all community groups are doing. This may be the town's oldest tradition on the Fourth, and it's also growing as more and more groups join the celebration.

Friday night's specific events include the carnival opening, the Rotary Club dinner, the first round of horseshoes, a 3-on-3 basketball tournament, the road race, a performance by "Brandy!" and a blueberry pie-eating contest. These will be the pre-cursors to Family Day on Saturday, where the carnival is open from 12 p.m. - 10 p.m., and the day is full to the brim with activities.

On Saturday, breakfast starts the day at 7 a.m. to be followed by all kinds of games: limbo, tug-of-war,

Analog Devices bid approved by state

By LIZZIE MCDERMOTT
News Correspondent

WILMINGTON — Analog Devices' bid for a tax break on new construction has met with success at the state level.

At a recent quarterly meeting held by the Massachusetts Economic Assistance Coordinating Council at Worcester City Hall, the Tax Increment Financing Plan for Analog Devices was officially approved.

The TIF Plan, which has been discussed extensively by the Board of Selectmen and was brought before residents at Town Meeting, waives $700,000 in permit fees and awards $4.3 million in property tax relief for the company. The plan stipulates that Analog create 50 new jobs in

Train station issues slow emergency responders

WILMINGTON — In the critical moments after an emergency response is requested, one would hope that police, fire, and medical technicians would not need to face obstacles or obstructions in their ride to the site.

At an appointment with the Board of Selectmen, Police Chief Michael Begonis detailed a recent situation in which that very problem arose. The first responding vehicle, a fire department ambulance, approached the stop just as the gates began to go down. As a result, several police and fire vehicles had to wait approximately a minute and a half to cross.

Economic Development Incentive Program Analog Devices approved for EDIP

WORCESTER — The Commonwealth's Economic Assistance Coordinating Council (EACC) approved 15 projects for participation in the Economic Development Incentive Program (EDIP). These projects are expected to create 2,468 new jobs and retain 6,267 jobs throughout Massachusetts, while leveraging approximately $812 million in private investment.

MassMutual, a national mutual life insurance company, was awarded tax credits to pursue a significant expansion project in Springfield and Boston. This expansion, which the company announced in February, will bring 2,000 new jobs to Springfield and Boston, and leverage a $291 million investment in both cities.

"The Economic Development Incentive Program leverages private investments to create jobs and to contribute to regional economies across the Commonwealth," said Governor Charlie Baker. "Our administration is pleased to support this slate of projects, including MassMutual's expansion, and we welcome these companies' commitment to expanding and investing in Massachusetts."

"Our administration encourages communities to work with our many resources and tools to spur economic development at the local level through the EACC and the Economic Development Incentive Program," said Lt. Governor Karyn Polito. "These awards will contribute to economic development opportunities, create new jobs and develop paths towards long-term, stable growth."

"EDIP is an important tool to support local and regional job growth. MassMutual's expansion in Springfield and Boston is a win for the entire Commonwealth," said Housing and Economic Development Secretary Jay Ash. "The company's substantial investment in Springfield will feed the current momentum in the city and the region, attracting new private investment, jobs, and residents."

"Growing jobs across all regions of Massachusetts is our imperative and we can accomplish this when state and local incentives work in conjunctions with private investment," said Assistant

Secretary of Business Development & International Trade Nam Pham. "We are pleased that companies, large and small, continue expanding their operations and adding jobs to propel economic growth in Massachusetts."

The EACC has approved 194 economic development projects since the beginning of the Baker-Polito Administration in January 2015. These projects are leading to the creation of 12,343 jobs, retention of 27,768 existing jobs, and are leveraging over $4.3 billion in private investment. Additionally, the EACC has assisted 86 manufacturing companies and 87 companies in Gateway Cities during this period.

Certified Projects:

Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company, Springfield and Boston
MassMutual is a mutual life insurance company headquartered in Springfield. The company does business in all 50 states and provides a wide range of life insurance, annuity and disability products, pension and pension-related products and services, and investment-related products and services. MassMutual will renovate and expand their corporate headquarters in Springfield and construct a Boston campus. The company plans to hire 2,000 new employees, retain 3,649 employees, and make a private investment of $291 million. The EACC Board has approved EDIP investment tax credits in the amount of $46 million.

Analog Devices, Inc., Wilmington

Founded in 1965 and headquartered in Norwood, MA, ADI is a leading global manufacturer of a broad portfolio of products leveraging analog, mixed signal and digital signal processing technology. They are consolidating some of their MA-based operations into one campus. The will construct a 440,000 square-foot building for office space, lab space, a community hub and a parking. The company plans to hire 50 new employees, retain 1,555 employees, and make a private investment of $142.9 million. The Town of Wilmington has approved an eight-year Tax Financing Agreement with a value of approximately $4.3 million.

Electrify your ride - Part 2

Plug-in electric vehicle 101

For many of us, plug-in electric vehicles (PEVs) are a new and unexplored world. However, you may be surprised to know that electric vehicles have existed in some iteration since 1900, and that plug-in electric vehicles, which are the main focus of this article, have been around since 2010.

It can be tough to navigate this new world. The lingo. The acronyms. It's like a different language! Here are a few of the basics to help you get familiar with plug-in electric vehicles.

A plug-in electric vehicle contains an electric motor powered by an on-board battery. The battery is primarily charged by plugging the vehicle into an electrical source. Most vehicles also incorporate regenerative charging — this means that the battery will recharge when braking or at other times when the vehicle is operated. More on charging in a later article.

There are a few different types of plug-in electric vehicles available today:

Plug-in Hybrid Electric Vehicle (PHEV) - A PHEV has both an electric motor and a conventional gasoline engine. The gas engine is used as a backup when the battery is depleted. PHEVs have an electric range of between 12 and 29 miles depending on vehicle make and model.

Plug-in Hybrid Electric Vehicle PLUS (PHEV+) - A PHEV+ is essentially the same as a PHEV with the exception of battery capacity. The PLUS indicates that the vehicle's battery capacity is greater than 10 kWh, which typically means it will run farther on battery than a standard PHEV. Most PHEV+s have an electric range of between 29 and 53 miles depending on vehicle make and model.

Battery Electric Vehicle (BEV) - A BEV is 100 percent electric. BEVs have a range of between 70 and 335 miles depending on vehicle make and model.

Plug-in electric vehicles are increasing in popularity due to their environmental benefits as well as significant savings on fuel costs for EV owners.

Reading Municipal Light Department (RMLD) recently launched a summer plug-in electric vehicle pilot rebate program which offers residential customers a $1,500 rebate for the lease or purchase of a new or used Battery Electric Vehicle, and a $1,000 rebate for the lease or purchase of a new Plug-in Hybrid Electric Vehicle PLUS. Customers must take delivery of the vehicle by Oct. 31, 2018 to qualify.

For more information, visit <https://www.rmlld.com/electric-vehicle-rebate-programs>.

If you'd like to learn more about PEVs, join RMLD for a Plug-in Electric Vehicle Ride and Drive Event, on Sunday, July 15, 2018, from 10 a.m. - 2 p.m. in the Swain Green parking lot, which is located at the corner of Middlesex Avenue and School Street in Wilmington across from the town common.

This is the second in a series of articles RMLD will publish this summer regarding plug-in electric vehicles. Be on the lookout for our next article: How and Where to Charge Your Plug-in Electric Vehicle. It's time for Fun on the Fourth and WCTV has you covered on our Public Channel: Comcast 9/Verizon 37! And if you download the WCTV mobile app, you'll get a push alert when big programming is about to come on.

We're kicking things off on Thursday night with Throwback Thursday. This segment airs each week from 10 a.m. -

2 p.m. and then from 7 p.m. - 11 p.m. This week, we're going back to the 1998 and 2008 Fun on the Fourth videos. You can also watch these on our YouTube page. It's great to see familiar faces from 10 and 20 years ago and to look at the little kids who are now all grown up.

On Saturday, we'll be on the Common all morning long for Family Day. Can't make it down for the event? Watch it LIVE starting around 8:30 a.m. We'll be covering the hula hoop contest, the baby races and everything in between. If you miss the live broadcast, this event will replay all weekend long. And we hope to have it on our online video-on-demand page by Sunday.

Then on Monday night, we'll be on the air LIVE starting around 7:30 for the formal opening ceremony followed by the band concert and then the fireworks.

Since Wilmington's Fun on the Fourth festivities wrap up on July 2, we'll play this year's events on a loop on the 3rd and 4th. So as you're looking for something patriotic to put on, check out WCTV!

New Programs:
These air on one of WCTV's 3 television stations (Public: Comcast 9/Verizon 37 - Government: Comcast 22/erizon 38 - Education: Comcast 99 / Verizon 39). You can also watch most of them at WCTV.org.

Board of Selectmen (WCTV Government): Watch

Monday's meeting on TV or online with our helpful "chapters markers" to click to a part of the meeting you're looking for.

School Committee (WCTV Government): The final meeting of the school year was Wednesday night.

WCTV Youth: The first week of our summer workshops is this week. Look for videos from their productions early next week!

Upcoming Live:
• June 30 - 9 a.m. - Fun on the Fourth Family Day (WCTV Public)

• July 2 - 7:30 p.m. - Fun on the Fourth Opening Ceremonies, Band Performance and Fireworks (WCTV Public)

Check out WCTV.org for more information on when programs will be televised, and how you can get involved at your community television station. Membership is free and there's no time commitment. TIPS FOR TEENAGE TAXPAYERS WITH SUMMER JOBS

— PART I —

Students and teenagers often get summer jobs. This is a great way to earn extra spending money or to save for later. Here are a few tax tips for taxpayers with a summer job:

Withholding and Estimated Tax: Students and teenage employees normally have taxes withheld from their paychecks by the employer. Some workers are considered self-employed and may be responsible for paying taxes directly to the IRS. One way to do that is by making estimated tax payments during the year.

New Employees: When a person gets a new job, they need to fill out a Form W-4, Employee's Withholding Allowance Certificate. Employers use this form to calculate how much federal income tax to withhold from the employee's pay. The IRS Withholding Calculator tool on IRS.gov can help a taxpayer fill out the form.

Self-Employment: A taxpayer may engage in types of work that may be considered self-employment. Money earned from self-employment is taxable. Self-employment work can be jobs like baby-sitting or lawn care. Keep good records on money received and expenses paid related to the work. IRS rules may allow some, if not all, costs associated with self-employment to be deducted. A tax deduction generally reduces the taxes you pay.

History:

Gang invaded and robbed Ames Castle

By LARZ F. NEILSON

The setting was something you would expect to find in a Gothic novel, not in Tewksbury. An elderly wealthy bachelor returned home to his mansion on a 1,000-acre estate only to come face-to-face with five robbers.

"I thought it was a delayed Halloween prank or some such thing," Gen. Butler Ames told the Boston Globe.

Five young men from Nashua and Lowell had gone to the door of Ames castle in the mid-morning on Nov. 8, 1950. When the maid, Mrs. Emma Meegan, came to the door, one of them asked about fishing in nearby Ames Pond, then asked for a glass of water. The five then quickly forced their way into the mansion. The following three hours were the most harrowing experience of Mrs. Meegan's life.

The men tied her up in the library, then went to work, ransacking 24 rooms, strewn the contents of dressers across the floors. They splintered much of the woodwork, which had been carved by Gen. Ames' parents.

As noontime approached, they untied Mrs. Meegan and demanded that she give them lunch. She made lamb sandwiches and gave the men beer, milk, canned vegetables and bananas. They sat down at the kitchen table, almost as if they belonged there, but forced Mrs. Meegan to sit in a chair facing away before they removed their masks.

She did not offer them her apple pie, but they ate that anyway.

"They ate my apple pie, and I hope it kills them," she said.

They also found a bottle of whiskey, which they consumed.

Shortly after 1 p.m., Gen. Ames returned home with his chauffeur, Leo Tighe. They had been at Gen. Ames' office in Lowell. He was president of the Wamesit Power Co and Ames Textile.

Tighe let him off at the door, took the general's coat and then went to park the car.

When Gen. Ames walked in the door, he was immediately confronted by a masked gunman, threatening to shoot him if he made a wrong move.

When Tighe entered, he was looking at his own revolver. He started to argue with the gunman but was told, "Shut up or I'll plug you."

The robbers demanded Ames' money, and the location of the safe, which they were told did not exist. They took Gen. Ames' wallet with about $150, tied him up and manacled Tighe with his own handcuffs, stolen from his room. They demanded the key, but Tighe said he didn't have it.

The robbers then locked the three victims in a bedroom. Gen. Ames and Mrs. Meegan tied up and Tighe in his own handcuffs. They told their victims to behave and said they would call to have someone release them.

They then fled in the general's own car, with $200 cash, three pistols, a rifle, a pair of pearl cuff links, a swiss watch, some beads, two rings and a camera.

Tighe had the general fish the handcuff key from his pocket, and immediately climbed out a window and gave pursuit in a truck. At the bottom of the hill, he found the general's car with a flattened tire. He caught a glimpse of a large car driving off, up Kendall Street toward Andover.

He then returned to the castle and untied Gen. Ames and Mrs. Meegan.

The general was nonplussed about the experience.

"Afraid? An 80-year-old doesn't get rattled or frightened," he told the Globe.

Tighe was angry.

"It was the craziest thing I ever saw!" he said. "The thing that gets me madder than anything is I was held up with my own revolver and my hands were locked together with my own handcuffs!"

Mrs. Meegan was so upset that she said she would never sleep in the castle again.

Gen. Butler Ames, a West Point graduate and former congressman, was the son and grandson of Civil War generals. He served as a lieutenant colonel in the Spanish-American War. During World War I, Gov. Calvin Coolidge appointed him as a general in charge of the state militia. He held advanced degrees from MIT in mechanical and electrical engineering. In 1910, he built and flew a unique aircraft with spinning cylinders providing lift, instead of wings.

The castle was built by his father, Gen. Adelbert Ames, the holder of a Congressional Medal of Honor in the Civil War. Butler Ames' grandfather was Gen. Benjamin Butler, a Lowell lawyer who became the first Union major general in the Civil War. He was later a congressman and governor of Massachusetts.

The robbery was tied to a similar incident in Nashua, N.H. the day before, when two robbers went to a large home, tied up two women and made off with a heist of jewelry. Detectives recovered some of the jewelry in pawn shops in Boston in December 1950.

Within a week, police had arrested four men from Nashua and Lowell. Two were brothers. One of them was sent to Bridgewater State Hospital. The others went to court in February charged with confining a person and putting in fear for the purpose of stealing.

Two of the defendants pled guilty, while the third held to his plea of innocence. All were found guilty and sentenced to prison for five and a half to eight years. The day of the sentencing, Feb. 23, 1951, police found four guns and a Swiss watch in a pond in Chelmsford.

There was no record of a fifth arrest in the case.

▲ The Ames Castle, built in 1905 by Gen. Adelbert Ames, was the scene of a robbery in 1950. It was torn down five years ago. (Larz F. Neilson photo)

Diecidue joins Wilmington office of ERA Key Realty Services

WILMINGTON, April 18, 2018 — ERA Key Realty Services announced today that Wilmington resident Wendy A. Diecidue, Realtor has joined ERA Key's Wilmington office.

She serves as president of the Women's Council of REALTORS® Northern Region Network and is an elected director of the Greater Boston Association of Realtors. She began her real estate career in Wilmington 12 years ago with Realty Executive North East and continued on to Century 21 Spindler & O'Neil.

"I joined ERA Key Realty Services because of the support the agency offers, its strong leadership and continuous up-to-date training on current real estate topics," Diecidue said. "This will translate to being able to provide my customers and clients with the best tools and systems."

Diecidue is serving her third term as president of the Women's Council of REALTORS® Northern Region Network, which nationally has 11,000 members, and is affiliated with the National Association of REALTORS®. She was recently re-elected president, having previously held the position in 2013 and 2014. The council seeks to advance women as professionals and leaders in business, the industry and the communities they serve.

As an elected director of the Greater Boston Association of Realtors, she participates in governing the association's policies, programs and business activities. She also acts as an association ambassador at industry forums and elsewhere, and serves as an association spokesperson and liaison between GBAR and state legislators. GBAR has nearly 10,000 members.

She is a Certified Buyer Representative (CBR) and earned her Loss Mitigation Certification (LMC). She served as President of the Kiwanis Club and is still actively involved. She is a long-time volunteer at the Wilmington Recreation Department and a warden for precinct 6 in the town of Wilmington.

About ERA Key Realty Services

ERA Key Realty Services has 15 offices throughout central and eastern Massachusetts and is among the 10 largest residential real estate agencies in Massachusetts based on the number of homes sold. Gorski arrested for receiving stolen property TEWKSBURY — On June 20, 2018 the Tewksbury Police Department arrested Robert J. Gorski, 26, of 85 Baystate Road, Tewksbury on a warrant for Receiving Stolen Property (subsequent offense).

After setting up a surveillance operation at 85 Baystate Road (Gorski's residence) with an arrest warrant and search warrant in hand, detectives observed a 2016 Black Ford Escape (Ma. Reg. 6PRY70) leaving the residence. Detectives observed Gorski sitting in the passenger seat of the vehicle which led to a motor vehicle stop a short distance from the residence and his arrest without incident. Gorski is a suspect in a string of recent car breaks in the neighborhood where he resides and his arrest/warrant was the result of an ongoing investigation.

The search warrant was executed at 85 Baystate Road after his arrest and items linked to the recent car breaks were located. Gorski was held overnight and transported to Lowell District Court this morning for arraignment.

The Tewksbury Police Department urges any citizens who suspect criminal activity to call the Dispatch Center at 978-851-7373. If you wish to remain anonymous please call the Tip Line at 978-851-0175 or send an email to tewks_detectives@tewksbury-ma.gov.

Donna's Donuts: The best doughnuts in Mass.?

By MATT FRONDUTO
TMHS Correspondent

Well everyone, now that the school year has wrapped up, the news flow from Tewksbury High has obviously screeched to a grinding halt, but in the absence of classes for a few months, the students of TMHS still will need to find local places to spend their summer nights, or in this particular case, summer mornings.

I am, of course, referencing Tewksbury's own Donna's Donuts, the well-known small business on Main Street, famous for its glorious "cheeseburger" doughnut, which has earned acclaim from all around town, as well as a visit from the crew at the Phantom Gourmet. And once one tastes the custard filling (designed to be the cheese) oozing over the fresh chocolate glazed doughnut (the meat), it has a simply magical effect on the taste buds, likely solidifying its place as one of the best doughnuts in all of New England.

The appeal of Donna's stretches far beyond that of a simple gimmick, however, as their standard collection of breakfast foods is one of incredible quality, consistently being ranked higher than establishments such as Dunkin' Donuts in quality (as shown in a series of 2017 surveys via NBC Boston).

From the traditional chocolate frosted doughnuts, to the almost experimental taste of a "cinnamon glazed," to the ever-changing "Donna's Special," Donna's Donuts knows exactly how to keep their menu fresh, and their customers satisfied. This is the most clear-cut explanation for why business always seem to be bustling, as lines wrap around the store's cafe on some holidays, with customers ordering different products left and right, whether it be coffee, doughnuts, muffins, or some other form of pastry.

Perhaps the best aspect of Donna's — a relatively lofty bar to jump — is their complete exclusion of peanuts and tree nuts, a rare yet incredibly well-appreciated aspect of the average breakfast cafe, allowing customers with nut allergies to enjoy foods that, at other restaurants, they would not even have the opportunity to try.

In the future, we will explore ideal places to visit all around the Merrimack Valley Area, but for our first installment, why not stay as local as can be? Visit Donna's Donuts if you have not already, and if you have, you know better than anyone that it deserves as much foot traffic as possible.

This is the place!

Vision issues raised in study, rotary rule and TV ads

By PAUL J. ANDREWS
andrews@masssupt.org
Mass. Ass'n. of School Superintendents
Chairman of the Board of Winchester Hospital
Supt. of Schools/Woburn 1981-1994

"None of us has enough mental capacity to consume all the information out there. The question is what part are we processing and how did it get selected? And what part are we neglecting?"

This is a quote of Hans Rosling, a profound writer and philosopher. This column will review some of the issues on this quote along with some other "clean off the desk" issues that I periodically comment about around the area, especially vision issues with students.

So much communication

I am not sure about you, but despite my attempts to keep up on what is happening in the world, there is just so much out there on print and electronic media. I find it impossible to keep up with all that I feel I would like to see or read. While I am a big time newspaper reader, I attempt to keep up as well on the electronic media, especially around local and national news, as well as news productions like 60 Minutes and other similar productions. Keeping up on twitter and e-mail some days becomes almost impossible but I try. Despite this effort, I still feel we are (at least in today's world) surrounded by "breaking news" which never seems to stop.

Growing vision problem

A 2017 report found that nearly 42 percent of Americans are nearsighted, compared with only 25 percent in the 1970's. In the report from Sarah Sparks and Alex Harwin, they report that two factors are responsible for this increase in nearsightedness (need glasses to see distant objects) which they say is because young people are spending more time engaged in "near" work reading print material or mesmerized by electronic devices with the second factor being young people spending "less time outdoors in daylight during and after school."

Also suggested is that less exposure to natural light in the elementary school years speeds the growth of the eyeball, which they report, could increase the incidences of nearsightedness. They report that studies in the US, Australia and China have found a direct relationship between less time spent outdoors and more nearsightedness.

They report that the American Association of Pediatric Ophthalmology recommends that children have their vision tested at age five and every other year with the comment that this varies all over the world in reality and in practice for obvious reasons. The research team site the fact that "better vision in classrooms leads to more successful schoolwork and also cuts down on discipline problems."

What am I missing?

Television ads have always been interesting to me, as you like to think they are goal-focused to sell a product or make a point but in recent months, I have seen so many ads that make no sense at all. Granted, I am not in the prime age bracket that these ads are focused, which could be part of the problem but for example why do we have new cars being advertised driving over expansive areas of expressway or pulling up to a hotel with no plate on the vehicle? I advise you to just take a look (like you can avoid it) to watch the ads and see if they appear logical or even make sense but again it may be me.

Rotary traffic rule

Many of our Wilmington-Tewksbury Town Crier area communities have one or two rotary areas and often wonder if the license booklet we had to memorize for a license in my days was ever read by current drivers. As I remember the rotary rule (should have checked) the point was that you should not enter a rotary as traffic was coming around the area. What I see from Sullivan Square to our local areas is not that at all, as vehicles cut in front of others that are coming around the rotary with many racing to beat that car.

I mentioned Sullivan Square where the "rotary rule" I learned does not seem to be known at all, as cars race around the rotary with other cars racing into the rotary to beat the next car, just feet away. Locally, the Winchester Square rotary can be challenging as is the Main St.-128/95 rotary in Woburn. Having a police presence does not make sense as other duties call but knowledge and enforcement of the RMV rotary rule needs to be explained more clearly than in this column.

Impossible Boston Superintendent position

News broke over the weekend on the early departure from Boston of the most recent Superintendent of Schools after three years for reasons given relative to lack of making relationships with community leaders, etc. Let's face reality, the position of school superintendent in the urban districts (maybe all districts) is almost impossible. You will never please all the people all the time.

Several years ago, I was at the national superintendents conference in San Francisco and crossed one of the trolley car streets to find Bill Leary, Lois Harrison Jones, Leval Wilson and Bob Spillane, all four former Boston superintendents, having a great conversation. I could not avoid walking over to the group and comment, excuse me but I just wanted to say that there is a book in this conversation, as I am sure the topic is Boston. They all laughed and commented, you know it was, as I headed to my meeting.

JUST A NOTE: THANKS for honoring me with some of your time in reading this column and feel free to e-mail me at andrews@masssupt.org or follow me on twitter at @Paulandrewsmass

Electric Vehicle Ride and Drive Event on July 15

WILMINGTON — Reading Municipal Light Department (RMLD) invites customers to attend a free Electric Vehicle Ride and Drive event on Sunday, July 15, 2018 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Swain Green parking lot located at the corner of Middlesex Avenue and School Street in Wilmington across from the town common.

The event will take place concurrently with the Wilmington Farmers Market. Attendees are invited to view and test drive (or ride) an assortment of plug-in vehicles from local automobile dealers. Information about charging stations, electric vehicle incentive programs, and RMLD rebate programs will also be available.

Local electric vehicle owners will also be in attendance to offer insider reviews and commentary.

RMLD recently launched a summer pilot program offering residential customers a $1,500 rebate for the lease or purchase of a new or used Battery Electric Vehicle (BEV), and a $1,000 rebate for the lease or purchase of a new Plug-In Hybrid Electric Vehicle Plus (PHEV+) with an on-board battery capacity greater than 10 kWh.

Customers must take delivery of the vehicle by Oct. 31, 2018 in order to qualify. RMLD also updated its existing residential Electric Vehicle Charging Station Program to rebate 100 percent of equipment costs up to $500 for a networked (or "smart") AC level 2 charging station.

Electric vehicles offer significant environmental benefits, reduce fuel costs for EV owners, and help keep rates low.

For more information on RMLD's electric vehicle program, visit <http://www.rmlld.com/electric-vehicle-rebate-programs>.

Special thanks to the Wilmington Farmers Market and the Town of Wilmington for supporting this event.

At the time of graduation, a student must have earned a minimum of 120 credits and completed at least 38 three- or four-credit courses, depending on the course of study, and have an overall grade point average of 2.0 or better at the conclusion of the senior year.

Fire officials urge public to leave fireworks to experts

STOW — "Last year, several people lost fingers and suffered serious burns lighting off illegal fireworks in Massachusetts," said State Fire Marshal Peter J. Ostroskey. "Have a fun but safe Fourth of July and leave the fireworks to the professionals," he added.

4th of July No Holiday for Firefighters

Whitman Fire Chief Timothy J. Grenno, president of the Fire Chiefs' Association of Massachusetts, said, "The Fourth of July holiday is a busy time for firefighters. We are supervising the professional displays so that they are conducted properly and safely for the viewing public; we're busy responding to all types of fires and medical emergencies. In fact, the week of July 4 is one of the busiest times of the year for fires."

State Fire Marshal Ostroskey said, "This year, set a good example for your children. Just as children know where you keep the matches and lighters, they know where you stash your illegal fireworks."

He added, "Children imitate adults. If you use fireworks, children will copy you, not realizing how very dangerous fireworks are."

47 percent of fireworks-related burn injuries reported by hospitals to the Office of the State Fire Marshal in the last 10 years (2008-2017) were to children under age 18. A fifth of the victims, (20 percent), were children between the ages of five and nine, 11 percent were under five years old, and the youngest child injured was just six months of age.

On July 1, 2017 at around 3 p.m., a firework exploded in the hands of a teenager in Mattapan as he was driving.

On July 3, 2016, an eight-year old Lawrence boy received burns to his chest. A firework hit him in the chest while he was watching illegal fireworks being set off at a neighbor's house.

On July 4, 2016, a four-year old Lawrence boy received burns to his forehead and chin when an illegal firework hit him in the face.

- On the night of July 9, 2016, the Boston Police Department responded to a Dorchester apartment when a 10-year old boy lost four fingers due to illegal fireworks.

- On July 15, 2017 at 7:33 p.m. a fire was started when a child attempted to ignite some fireworks. The father tried to extinguish the fire but the Nahant Fire Department had to be called. The damages from this event were said to be around $1,000.

Over 780 Major Fires & Explosions from Fireworks

In the past decade (2008-2017) there have been 784 major fire and explosion incidents involving illegal fireworks reported to the Massachusetts Fire Incident Reporting System (MFIRS). These incidents caused 10 civilian injuries, four fire service injuries, and an estimated dollar loss of $1.9 million. This is quite a substantial amount since most fireworks related fires are outside brush fires and do not usually have high loss figures, but can tax firefighters and tie up firefighting resources for an extensive amount of time.

- On July 9, 2017 at 8:34 p.m., a fire started on the roof of "Brennan's Smoke Shop" due to the use of illegal fireworks. The New Bedford Fire Department responded and the damages from the incident were said to be around $25,000.

- On July 10, 2017 at 12:28 a.m. fireworks ignited a sofa on the porch of a Boston 2-family home. The fire spread to the neighboring home, resulting in $5,000 dollars of damage to each building.

- On Dec. 12, 2017 at 1:31 p.m., EMS and the fire department responded to a call about a Quincy man who had lost his hand after a firework (M-80) exploded while he was holding it.

A majority of firework-related fires and injuries occurred during the week of the Fourth of July holiday.

- On June 3, 2017 a 37-year old man from Plymouth experienced partial amputations to some of the fingers on his right hand along with injuries to his left hand after a shell exploded in his hands. He also had burns on his chest from the fireworks. He had to be Med-flighted from his local hospital to a Boston hospital for treatment.

- On July 3, 2017 at 11:15 p.m., a fire started in a North Attleboro home. The owner of the home had set off around $1,500 worth of fireworks earlier that day and had put some of the shells from these fireworks in his recycling bin. Hours later, the shells ignited and started a fire, with the wall of the home catching fire along with the bin. Damages resulting from this incident were around $1,000.

- On July 4, 2017 at 10:15 p.m. a consumer grade firework went off in the hand of a woman who was at a playground near Lake Quannapowitt in Wakefield watching a sponsored fireworks show.

- On July 4, 2017 at 9:45 p.m. in Quincy, a 32-year old man was severely injured by fireworks and potentially lost some of his fingers after a firework he was holding exploded.

- On July 4 2017, at 9:08 p.m. the drapes in a second floor window of an apartment in Hull caught fire from fireworks. The estimated damage amounted to $2,000.

- On July 5, 2017, at 4:09 p.m. fireworks in the garage of a home in East Longmeadow ignited and a fire began. Estimated damage costs from this incident were $200,000.

All Fireworks Are Illegal in Massachusetts

The possession and use of all fireworks by private citizens is illegal in Massachusetts. This includes Class C fireworks which are sometimes falsely called "safe and sane" fireworks. Class C fireworks include sparklers, party poppers, snappers, firecrackers, spinners, cherry bombs and more. Sparklers burn at 1800°F. It is illegal to transport fireworks into Massachusetts, even if they were purchased legally elsewhere. Illegal fireworks can be confiscated on the spot.

OBITUARIES

Franklin Joseph D'Entremont

Drafted into United States Army

Franklin Joseph D'Entremont, fondly known as "Frank" to his family and friends, age 83, of Wilmington, passed away peacefully on June 23, 2018; following a courageous battle with Parkinson's disease.

Frank was born in Boston, MA on May 28, 1935; he was the dear only son of David and Gertrude D'Entremont. Frank was raised in Roxbury and was a graduate of Charlestown High School with the Class of 1953.

Frank married "the love of his life" Claire Murphy in 1957; he was drafted into the United States Army shortly after in January of 1958. Frank served overseas in Germany and his duties included being a radio operator and sending and receiving Morse Code. Following two years of active duty, Frank was transferred to the Army Reserves in January of 1960 and returned home to his bride.

In 1965, Frank and Claire moved to "the country" namely Wilmington, MA, which was a culture shock for a couple from the city but they loved their new home and community. Frank and Claire raised three wonderful children: Diane, David and Cathy. Frank loved being a "dad" and in later years he enjoyed spending time with his grandchildren.

Frank worked hard to provide for his family; he took a job at General Electric in Lynn, MA and work his way up to the position of Manufacturing Engineer. Frank was a very loyal and dedicated employee who had a great work ethic; these were all attributes that made him quite successful. Frank retired following more than 34 years with the company.

Frank enjoyed camping with his wife, family and friends; following his retirement they bought an RV and took the "trip of a life-time" cross country. Frank loved being a "snow bird" in the winter months; they would head south and get away from the harsh New England winters.

Frank was a talented photographer who loved to take pictures every where he went. He also enjoyed the time he spent as a ham radio operator which he learned during his time in the Army. Frank was also known to enjoy watching all New England sports especially the Red Sox.

Frank will be fondly remembered as a "quiet guy" who would do anything for anyone. He loved his family and friends with all his heart and he will be missed.

Frank was the beloved husband of 60 years to the late Claire C. (Murphy) D'Entremont, devoted father of Diane M. Stein & husband Andrew of York, ME, David F. D'Entremont & wife Sheryl of Londonderry, NH and Catherine M. Walsh & husband Jeffrey of Wilmington. Loving grandfather of Lauren & Michael Stein, Cynthia & husband Eddie Dixon, Jessica D'Entremont and Jared & Cole Walsh. Cherished son of the late David and Gertrude D'Entremont, dear brother of Geraldine Fitzpatrick of Norwood.

Family and friends gathered at the Nichols Funeral Home, 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rt. 62), Wilmington, on Thursday, June 28 at 9 a.m. followed by a Mass of Christian Burial in St. Dorothy's Church, Main St. (Rt. 38), Wilmington at 10 a.m. Interment with Military Honors will follow in Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington. Visiting Hours were held at the Funeral Home on Wednesday, June 27 from 4 - 8 p.m.

In lieu of flowers donations in Frank's memory may be made to The Jimmy Fund, 10 Brookline Place West, 6th Floor, Brookline, MA 02445-7226.

Miriam J. 'MeMe' Miller

Enjoyed volunteering at nursing homes

Mrs. Miriam J. "MeMe" Miller, 81, of Mentzer Gap Road, Waynesboro, PA, died Wednesday morning, June 20, 2018, in the Chambersburg Hospital.

Born Feb. 22, 1937 in Wilmington, MA, she was the daughter of the late Laurence and Viola (Taylor) Melzar. She moved to Laurel, MD in 1964 before moving to Waynesboro in 2004.

MeMe graduated from Wilmington High School with the Class of 1955.

She and her husband of over 54 years, Ralph J. Miller, were married on March 15, 1964 in Wilmington.

MeMe was a homemaker who enjoyed volunteering at Laurel (MD) nursing homes and was awarded the Governor's Plaque for her volunteer efforts with the Anne Arundel County (MD) Schools.

She attended services at the Waynesboro Bible Church and enjoyed crossword puzzles, traveling to Maine, baking — especially pies, puzzles, and loved being a grandma to her grandchildren.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by two sons, Laurence R. Miller and his wife, Amy of Aspers, PA and Doug J. Miller and his wife, Diane of Pittsburgh, PA; four grandchildren, Brandon Miller, Chase Miller, Jimmy Miller, and Amanda Miller; one sister, Lavinia Syvertson of New Jersey; two brothers, James Melzar of South Carolina and Jere Melzar of Maine; one half-brother, Bobby Taylor of New York; and numerous nieces, nephews, and cousins.

In addition to her parents, she was preceded in death by one sister, Martha White.

Services were held at 10:30 a.m., Friday, June 22, 2018, in Grove-Bowersox Funeral Home, 50 S. Broad St., Waynesboro, with Pastor Dorell Gentry officiating. Burial will follow in Quincy Cemetery.

The family received friends one hour prior to the services, Friday morning, in the funeral home.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to: The Waynesboro Bible Church, 8216 Stottlemeyer Road, Waynesboro, PA 17268 or St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital at www.stjude.org

Learn about real news at the DC Newseum

By SHERYL WALSH
News Correspondent
Sheryl@YourTownCrier.com

Conveniently located right off the downtown mall, the Newseum provides a different DC experience. As their mission states, it "promotes, explains, and defends free expression and the five freedoms of the First Amendment."

They look back at news through the ages and at journalism today. There are a few surprise bonuses too.

Chief Operating Officer Scott Williams reports that 855,000 people visited in 2017 making that its best attendance figure since its debut year. The Newseum offers these visitors staff-guided and self-guided tours of its 6-levels of collections.

Their many exhibits include such marvels as Pulitzer Prize Photographs where you can see every winner of that prestigious prize displayed in one gallery. In another exhibit, visitors see how freedom of the press differs drastically around the globe when they view a 36-foot wide color-coded map of World Press freedom.

1776 Breaking News: Independence is listed as a popular family favorite in their guide book. It's a colorful, lively exhibit which includes a rare original of the first newspaper printing of the Declaration of Independence.

The museum features 15 different films covering major events in history and key journalism issues. There are three main theaters and smaller film screenings in some exhibits. Topics range from the Kennedy family history to fighting terrorism and from journalistic bias to news reporting mistakes.

Seeing the architectural achievements of the 470,000-square-foot building is a bonus part of the experience. There's a 90-foot atrium with a news helicopter suspended above entering visitors. The dramatic glass façade seems to reach the sky. Ramps are prevalent and the easiest way to ascend and descend, but there is also a hydraulic passenger elevator said to be the largest and tallest in the world.

Their ideal location at Pennsylvania Avenue and Sixth Street NW not only provides convenience but also breath-taking views. The 6th floor outdoor terrace allows guests to look across the famous main street of Pennsylvania Avenue at notable landmarks and to see the Capital with an unobstructed view.

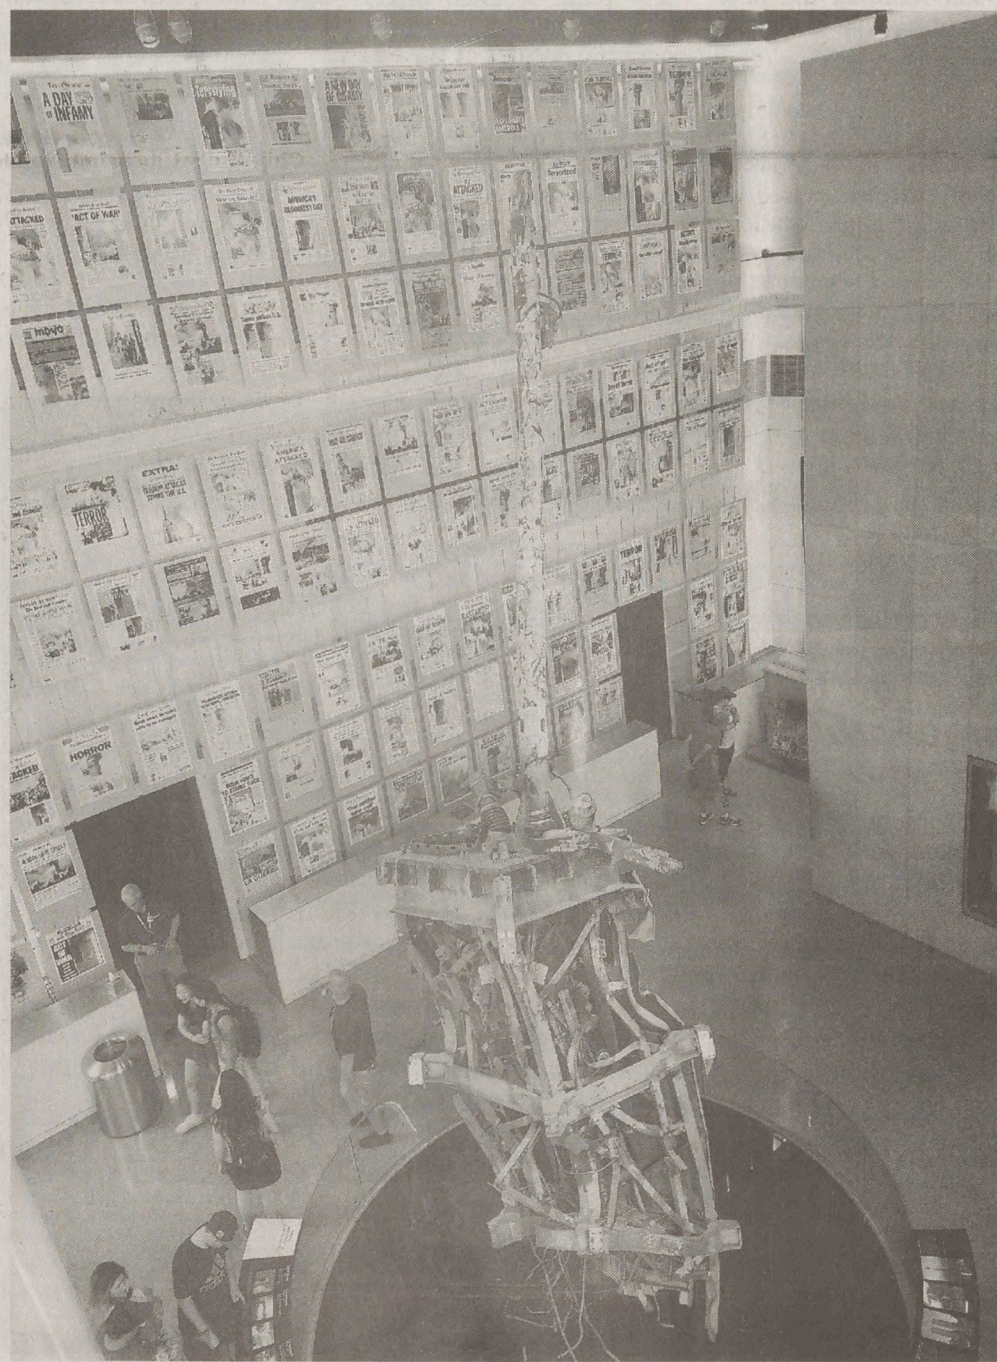

While not always the case, this museum has an above average dining option for its guests. Their in-house restaurant is The Source by renowned chef Wolfgang Puck. The Asian inspired venue provides both formal and casual dining but as expected, it can be pricey.

There is also an admission price for the Newseum, but many on-line and special category discounts are available.

CLOCKWISE FROM TOP LEFT: Historical exhibits include reporting on the American Revolution.

A news helicopter and a large screen video production of stories past and present greet visitors.

A memorial exhibit on 9/11 includes a piece of the towers and front pages of papers around the country and the world.

Shultz graduates from Eastern Conn. State University

WILLIMANTIC, CT — Eastern's annual graduation ceremony was held at the XL Center in Hartford on May 15, with more than 12,000 family members and friends cheering on their sons and daughters, brothers and sisters, as 1,105 undergraduates and 85 graduate students received their diplomas.

Rebecca Schultz of Wilmington graduated Magna Cum Laude with a Bachelor of Arts in Visual Arts. Schultz was also awarded a Bachelor of Science in Elementary Education.

Commencement speaker Elinore McCance-Katz, assistant secretary for mental health and substance use in the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS), told the graduates and their families at Eastern Connecticut State University's 128th Commencement exercises that the current opioid crisis facing the United States is "the nation's greatest medical challenge since the AIDS epidemic of the 1990s. It is a tragedy of major proportions, and we need to work together to help those addicted get treatment and recover from this disease."

McCance-Katz also explained to the crowd that Eastern had grown from a small college when she attended Eastern Connecticut State College in the 1970s to become "a comprehensive university that has flourished."

McCance-Katz received an honorary doctor of science degree from Eastern in a special hooding ceremony during the graduation exercises. She graduated magna cum laude from Eastern in 1978 with a degree in biology. Following a sterling career in medicine, psychiatry, academic achievement and public administration, McCance-Katz's DHHS appointment in August 2017 made her the first assistant secretary-level director of the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration.

Eastern President Elsa Nunez told the graduates their liberal arts education at Eastern was highly prized by American employers.

"In five separate surveys conducted by the Association of American Colleges and Universities over the past decade, the vast majority of employers — over 90 percent! — say they are less interested in specialized job proficiencies, favoring instead analytical thinking, teamwork and communication skills — the wide-ranging academic and social competencies available through a liberal arts education."

For more information, visit www.easternct.edu.

It is the policy of Eastern Connecticut State University to ensure equal access to its events. If you are an individual with a disability and will need accommodations for this event, please contact the Office of University Relations at (860) 465-5735.

Wilmington by 2024, and relocate 450 employees from its other campuses to Wilmington. Several new buildings will be constructed on the Wilmington campus, including a parking garage, a research and development building, and a hub building.

Town Manager Jeffrey Hull attended the meeting, along with representatives from Analog Devices and Peter Milano of the Office of Business Development.

Hull called the approval "... certainly good news for both the town and Analog."

Hull stated that he expected to be getting the formal TIF resolution sometime in the next couple of weeks. He also said that there will soon be announcements regarding groundbreaking events being held by the company.

State senator Bruce Tarr submitted a letter of support to the EACC. Hull stated that the letter talks about the strong points associated with the proposal and the prospect of jobs being brought to Wilmington as a result of the project.

Heav'nly Donut's founding family returns to Wilmington

WILMINGTON — It was a heav'nly day indeed for the grand re-opening of Heav'nly Donuts at 579 Main St. on Tuesday. Shining sun, Romeo from Kiss 108 spinning the hits, face painted happy kids, a dancing donut mascot, and free coffee and baked goods to all made it the perfect celebration. In addition to the many area residents and businesses owners, the Wilmington/Tewksbury Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors and State & Town officials were on hand to perform the official ribbon cutting.

Under new management, the store is now proudly owned and operated by Effie and Chris Kombouras &

Jimmy and Cori Saragas.

Effie and Jimmy have years of experience as their parents, George & Elaine Saragas opened the first ever Heav'nly Donuts in Methuen over 40 years ago. For the past ten years, the duo couples have continued to grow the business and now own and operate multiple locations in Merrimack Valley and Southern New Hampshire. The couples are happy to be back in town and pride themselves on delicious bakery products made from scratch, 20 flavors of brewed (no syrup) coffee, and fresh eggs.

and presented the just passed Article 2.

He wrote in his statement that "the bone of contention [at the meeting] was over one word: location."

It was a measure to protect community neighborhoods that has been approved through the attorney general. From his statement, McCoy saw this change as an opportunity for the town to bring in larger facilities that could offer a range of services.

In the meantime, he reminds residents that the Town Clerk has accepted a preliminary subdivision plan at 362 Middlesex Ave., which saves its current zoning for eight years.

"Technically, [Mr. Kneeland] could still build a detox facility at 362 Middlesex Ave. subject to a special permit from the Zoning Board of Appeals."

McCoy urges residents to attend the Zoning Board meeting on Aug. 8 to continue their steady involvement in this special permit.

Wilmington ready to celebrate Fourth of July next week hula hoops, wiffle ball, three-legged race, bucket brigade, baby crawl, water balloon toss, and a magic show. The second annual Fire vs. Police Departments softball game will start at 4 p.m. at the high school baseball field, followed by a cornhole tournament and a performance from Haywire.

Garrant recalled that Family Day is one of their most popular events, although there's something new for all participants on each day.

"Family Day offers something for everyone and is always well attended and received," he said.

He appreciated that no matter how residents choose to attend the celebration, what they take away from this widely participated event are individual, unique memories.

Sunday there will be carnival discount after 4 p.m., although it opens at 1 p.m., with a performance from "Four on the Floor" and the next round of 3-on-3 basketball and horseshoes. That night is the Ladies 2-mile Walk and the hospital bed race.

Finally, Monday will be another night of the carnival and a performance by the Reading Community Concert Band before the Fun on the Fourth culminates with the Spectacular Fireworks.

For Garrant, the ceremony on Monday night, what he referred to as the "big night," when they honor past and current service members, is a piece of the festivities that he can't miss.

"The playing of the National Anthem is a very special moment for me," he shared.

Besides catching this moment, he gives some specific advice for Fun on the Fourth participants: stay hydrated, and come early.

Garrant is looking forward to the 38th year of the Fun on the Fourth in Wilmington.

"To me, the celebration is very much a homecoming event."

It is an honor of his to be able to work with great people to organize this celebration every year, and he said that it is truly a team effort from the 12 dedicated members of the committee.

He'd also ask for anyone who wants to volunteer to sign up online, even if it's only for an hour.

"Anyone who could offer... their time to help with manning the parking lots or offering directions to those who are arriving would be a big help," he urged.

The Fourth of July Committee's website, www.funonthefourth.com, has the full schedule and list of activities.

Responders have issues with train gates

Haverhill line and is immediately adjacent to a street crossing on Route 62. Trains stopping at the station do not always entirely clear the street crossing, leaving gates down and the road impassable for the one to two minutes that passengers are boarding the train.

Such stops have the potential to pose a major logistical problem for emergency response vehicles.

"You can understand that that's a critical concern of ours, if there's a major incident on the other side of that crossing that we need to get to," said Begonis.

According to Begonis, there is signage for operators along the platform which specifies exactly how many train cars will remain in the road at any given stopping. In addition, the town has expressed concern with transit officials in the past regarding this issue. However, such obstructions do continue to occur, as evidenced by the recent incident.

Begonis cited turnover within the MBTA as a primary contributing factor to these incidents.

He did express optimism that the recently revisited dialogue will be more fruitful than past conversations.

"It's been a source of frustration for us. I think that we had a serious call for service that we would have hoped to have been able to get there earlier to. That said, it was able to open up a dialogue with the state."

Begonis and Fire Chief Joseph McMahon have entered talks with MassDOT in order to conclusively address the issue. They will meet with transit officials within the next week or two. Some conversation points will be permitting issues associated with modifications to infrastructure at the station, and the role of fiber optic cables being run through the area, which will necessitate DigSafe oversight.

"We want to make sure they hear us loud and clear, and that we don't have to revisit this again," said Begonis.

Selectmen Gregory Bendel, Michael McCoy, and Ed Loud each thanked Begonis and McMahon for their work on the issue.

"I don't care if it's turnover or not. It has to stop. Lives matter," said Loud. "Thank you for addressing this situation, being here tonight. I can't wait to see the report on that meeting."

AAA All-Star Baseball Game

Team White prevails over Team Blue, 15-7

Wilmington Little League's annual AAA all-star game took place on Saturday June 23rd at Rotary Park. Team White included four players each from the Braves, Astros, and Rays plus two from the Cardinals while Team Blue had four each from the Giants, Royals, and Pirates plus two others from the Cardinals. White prevailed over Blue 15-7 in a very well-played affair.

Team White's Will Poyant held Blue scoreless in the first, striking out one and giving up only a single to Ronin Uftring. Poyant was helped by some stellar defense by Tommy Pereira, Jake Banda, and Joe Gronemeyer. White got off to a fast start in their half of the first with four runs. Tim Watson, Henry Santini, Jonathan Stokes, and Gronemeyer all singled and scored as Kenny Branley ripped a double to clear the bases.

Team Blue's Noah Titterington got their only hit in the second off of Team White's Luke Cushing who kept Blue off the board again. Blue's Mikey Ware, Riley Morell, and Conner Lynch did hit the ball well but some more excellent glove work by White's Braedon Almas, Cam O'Connell, Cushing, and Watson kept them off the bases.

Team White was held to one run in the second by Team Blue's Gavin Poirior. Pereira made solid contact but Team Blue's solid fielding kept him off the bases. Eric Banda then hit a shot to Ryan Gray at second but a great play by Gray resulted in the second out. Luke Kitanov then walked and scored and Poyant drew a walk as well. Team Blue finally did some major damage in the top of the third scoring five runs. Jake Driscoll and Ryan Gray both singled and scored as Ronny Jordan walked and Chase Kennedy was hit by a pitch driving in a run. Gray scored as Will Biscan singled and Poirier doubled scoring Biscan. Uftring singled and Andrew Almeda ripped a ball to short but Gronemeyer made a good play firing to Pereira at first for the final out.

Team White then got most of them back in their half of the third as Watson singled again, O'Connell and Santini walked, and Stokes singled. All of them scored as Gronemeyer blasted a double to finish the action.

Team Blue stormed right back in the fourth as Ware (double) and Morell (walk) scored. Titterington singled and Connor Lynch was hit by a pitch but Team White's Branley, who was pitching, made a great play at home as catcher Theo Bryson flipped him the ball to nail the runner at the plate trying to score. Branley then struck out the next batter and induced a ground out to

ALL-STARS PG SP7W

Rookie/Single-A All-Star Game a hit

The Wilmington Little League Rookie and Single-A Jamborees were played on Saturday, June 23 at Rotary Park.

The first game featured teams with both rookie and single-A players. One team was made up of Ryan Heos, Matthew Roque, Ryan MacPherson, Justin and Ryan Gallozzi, Grady Considine, Marco McCollem, and Nico McCollem from the Rookie Giants as well as Max Snapausky from the single-A Giants.

Their opponent was a team composed of Kyle Spencer from the single-A Cardinals, Patrick Taylor and Liam Callahan from the rookie Cardinals, and Charlie Chiocciariello, Griffin Kelley, Blake Jackson, and Liam Zollner, all of the Single-A Braves.

The game showcased a lot of offense as every player hit the ball. There were some great plays in the field which kept each team from pulling away from the other.

The second game was played by two single-A teams. The Astros fielded Robbie DeMedeiros, JC Morad, Nick Maninos, Lex Limoli, Sam Beaudoin, Jake Gryglik, Masen Voner, Jackson Cipolle, Dylan Costantiello, and Caden Merritt along with the Royals' Dany Fogg.

The Cardinals brought Tommy Demers, Zack Maiella, Max Glazer, Griffin Crowe, Patrick Moriarty, Spencer Walker, Matthew Norton, Brendan Cohen, Tommy MacGilvray, and Justice Eutsay along with Nick Melaragni from the Royals.

This game featured some outstanding hitting as many players took aggressive swings and belted balls well into the outfield.

There were some spectacular plays in the field as well, including diving catches and sharp grounders that were gobbled up and fired to first for outs.

ALL-STAR ACTION

Saturday's Rookie League All-Star game was a complete success. Shriners All-Star Football Game

Roberts and Turner team up one more time to bring home a 'W'

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
WALTHAM -As fantastic finishes go, they don't get much more better than last Saturday night's 40th Annual Shriner's All-Star Classic at Bentley University, where the North defeated the South by a score of 25-22 on a 33-yard field goal by Methuen's Jordan Perdomo as time expired.

Several local players were part of the dramatic come from behind victory, with Wilmington High's Tyler Roberts as well as Tewksbury High's Brandon Winn and Joe Rosberg all contributing to the win, while Wilmington High head coach Craig Turner was the North's offensive coordinator.

The North came away with the win after scoring the game tying touchdown and two point conversion to tie the game at 22-22 with 2:53 left to play and then stopping the South on a fake punt attempt on the ensuing possession, taking over at the South 37-yard line.

Shortly thereafter they had moved to the 16-yard line, and Perdomo, what was also the North quarterback, lined up for the winning kick and drilled it right down the middle to give the North the win.

"It was pretty wild," Turner said. "It was a great game. We went up early and then we were down for a while (16-7 in the third quarter), but we fought back and played really well on both sides of the ball."

Turner had a key hand in the North tying the game after they had fallen behind 16-7 with seconds remaining in the third quarter. With the offense having sputtered since early in the first quarter, Turner and North head coach Serge Clivio of Arlington Catholic decided to switch to a Wildcat offense, replacing Perdomo at quarterback with Cathedral's Khalil Blair, essentially putting the game in Blair's hands.

"I knew what Khalil could do after facing him when I was at Mystic Valley and Serge had faced him when he was at AC so we were both happy to have him on our side for once," Turner said.

Blair immediately led the North on a scoring drive, capping it off with a two yard touchdown run to pull them within 16-14, but when the South went back up 22-14 with 7:51 remaining, it looked like it might be too little to late. Blair led them on another drive, taking them to the South 16-yard line, but the drive stalled there and the North faced a game deciding fourth and ten.

It was there that Turner made the key offensive call of the game, as he and Clivio brought Perdomo back in at quarterback and on a play called by Turner, he hit Blair with a perfect pass between two defenders to pull the North within two at 22-20. Then, on a play called by Clivio, Blair ran in the two point conversion to tie the game and set up the last second field goal heroics.

Turner called the touchdown play perfectly, but he says it was the execution that made all the difference. "Based on the down and distance, we kind of knew they would be giving us a two high safety set," Turner said. "We went trips to one side with Khalil in the middle and ran three vertical routes. The backside safety did a real good job being between Khalil and the other receiver, but we are lucky we have a quarterback with such a strong arm because Justin just zipped it right in there to Khalil."

Along with coaching some great players he was not very familiar with, Turner also had the opportunity to coach some whom he knew very well, particularly Wilmington tight end and outside linebacker Tyler Roberts. The Merrimack bound star was as outstanding for the North as he had been for the Wildcats throughout his career, playing both ways for the North.

Originally slated to play primarily at linebacker, Roberts was moved to tight end at the start of practices because two other tight ends chose not to participate. While a little disappointed to not be getting more time on defense, Roberts, as usual did what was best for the team and excelled in the role where he was most needed.

"Tyler played pretty much the whole game. The coaches really liked him," Turner said. "He played the whole game at tight end and got in for a couple of series at outside linebacker. He was great for us. He did a great job blocking, especially in the Wildcat where he made some great blocks to spring some plays."

Turner already knew what a star he had in Roberts, but he still enjoyed seeing his star player excel against the best in the state.

"Of course you always think very highly of your own kids, but it was great to see him going against these kinds of kids and doing so well," Turner said. "He earned a lot of respect from his coaches and teammates."

Turner also enjoyed having the opportunity to coach a couple of players he is used to going against, in Winn and Rosberg.

"(Winn) is such a tough runner and like Tyler was another one who made some great blocks for us," Turner said. "He probably didn't get the ball as much as he wanted, but he still found a way to impact the game."

Turner was equally impressed with Rosberg, but he was not surprised at all, given what he had already seen of the Wesleyan bound star on Thanksgiving against Tewksbury.

"He was hard not to notice because for one thing we couldn't block him all week in practice," Turner said. "It was a pleasure to coach them both. They are both model kids and the type of kids you would like to have in your program. It just reaffirmed everything I already thought about them and about Brian (Aylward) and the Tewksbury program."

Northeast Baseball team slugs out ten runs in victory over Lowell

By DAN ZIMMERMAN
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
WILMINGTON -- On the heels of last week's 10-2 loss to North Reading, newly-minted

Wilmington Northeast Baseball head coach Bill O'Connor was quick to put a positive spin after the lopsided defeat. He ventured to say that he was very optimistic and predicted the team would soon "put everything together and start winning some games."

Soon, as it turned out, was several days later when his team traveled to face Lowell at Alumni Field. Dominate at the plate, Wilmington built a comfortable 7-run advantage and held off a late charge by Lowell to record their first win of the summer, by a score of 10-8. But Wilmington wasn't quite done, edging Dracut 4-3 last Thursday to win back-to-back games and improve to 2-1 on the young season.

"It was great to see our offense start clicking," said O'Connor. "My main takeaway was seeing the bats come to life and help propel us to two quality wins against two good teams."

Wilmington hopes to add to their win total when they later complete their season opener against Westford, which was called due to darkness after eight innings of scoreless ball, as well as schedule a make-up game with Woburn, which was rained-out Saturday.

Facing Lowell, Zack Dancewitz got the assignment and pitched well. According to O'Connor, the hurler wasn't overpowering but worked the Lowell hitters for ground ball outs. The Wilmington batters, meanwhile, were very aggressive against Lowell pitching and put a lot of men on base.

Leading 10-3 at one point, Wilmington "took the foot off the gas pedal," as O'Connor explained, and Lowell climbed back into the game. A handful of basehits and walks signaled the end of Dancewitz's effort. Ben Maynard was dispatched in relief and quieted the Lowell hitters, stranding a baserunner on third and the tying run at second. Harry Serounian closed the contest, earning the win.

"It was great to see our pitching staff maintain their composure and secure the win against a resilient Lowell team," said O'Connor.

Moving on to Dracut, Wilmington hit well through the order and built an early 4-0 lead. Facing starter Chris Stokes, who recorded a number of 1-2-3 innings, Dracut gradually scratched out a few runs to close to within one. But behind Stokes, who ultimately earned the win, the Wilmington defense was near flawless.

"Brendan George really had a helluva game at short-stop," said O'Connor. "He was making great plays in the hole and he recorded the first four outs of the game. We also got another great performance from Maynard in relief."

Next up for Wilmington is a pair of clashes with Lowell Catholic starting with a Tuesday night trip to Lowell followed by a rematch at Scanlon Field on Saturday.

A pair of Wilmington residents a part of Austin Prep's State Championship

WORCESTER -After being passed over by the selection committee for a chance to compete in the MIAA Super 8 Tournament, the Austin Prep Baseball team set their sights on taking home the Division 3 state championship, and on Saturday afternoon the Cougars (24-2) achieved their goal capturing the Division 3 state title with a 9-1 win over Taconic at Holy Cross.

Two members of the Cougars are from Wilmington, senior outfielder Dylan Arnold, and senior infielder and captain Josh Bartnicki. Bartnicki, who led helped power the Cougars offense early in the season, saw his season come to an end after just seven games with a torn ACL, while Arnold was part of a seven run Cougars rally in the bottom of the fourth that blew the game open.

Despite the obvious disappointment off not making the Super 8 tourney, Austin Prep coach Steve Busby says his team was able to quickly switch their focus from that disappointment to their goal of winning the Division 3 title.

"Our goal every year is to win the state title wherever we are," Busby said. "I am just really happy for our senior class. A lot of them have been with me for a long time and winning a state title at any level is not easy, so I am just grateful that we won."

Perhaps the only people more upset than the Cougars that they did not make the Super 8, were their Division 3 opponents, whom they outscored by a margin of 57-16 in the tournament. The Cougars were dominant throughout the tournament and Saturday was no exception, as after trailing 1-0 heading into the bottom of the fourth, they blew the game open with seven runs in the inning and never looked back.

"We were working the count the way we have all year, and by the fourth inning we had their pitcher up to about 70 pitches," Busby said. "We felt like we would eventually get to him. He gave us some walks, and then we got ourselves into some fastball counts, and we attacked the fastballs and were able to get some hits."

Arnold played a role in the big rally, hitting a slow chopper to third and then using his great speed to force an errant throw to the plate which scored two more runs. While Arnold didn't necessarily mash the ball to help his team get runs, the Cougars leadoff hitter had once again sparked his team, just as he had done all season.

"Dylan did a great job as a leadoff hitter for us this season," Busby said. "That's the kind of thing he had done for us all year, helping us get the offense going."

And while Bartnicki was not able to help the Cougars on the field for much of the season, Busby says that the senior captain still managed to provide great leadership for his teammates.

"Josh was a leader for us from the very beginning," Busby said. "He did a really good job, still showing up to games and supporting his teammates. He had set two goals for his senior season and that was to hit a home run and to have his team win their last game of the season and he was able to do that with a home run earlier in the year, and then his team came through with a win in our last game. "He is a really good kid and a really great student. It was great to see him develop over his career not only as a great player, but as a great human being and a classy kid."

Shamrocks capture spring league title

LAWRENCE -Capping off a sensational spring season, the North Shore Shamrocks '04 Green team captured the Valley League Bantam South Division Spring League championship with a thrilling 1-0 shootout victory over the Billerica Hooligans at the Lawrence Valley Forum on Sunday afternoon.

It was the second consecutive Valley League Spring championship for the Shamrocks, a team based out of Wilmington's Ristuccia Arena, which is made up of several players from Wilmington as well as other surrounding towns.

Sunday's game was a hard fought, physical contest between the two teams that had clearly established themselves as the class of the bantam division during spring league play. The Shamrocks (10-1-2) and the Hooligans (7-2-3) had met twice during the regular season and had skated to a pair of ties, and Sunday's contest was no different, as the teams matched each other chance for chance, and penalty for penalty before finally heading to a shootout deadlocked at 0-0.

While the teams were evenly matched throughout the game, the Shamrocks took over during the shootout, getting goals from Stephen Ditchfield and Alexander Doudkin, while Shamrocks goalie Liam Crowley stoned the powerful Hooligans on four consecutive shots.

Ditchfield opened the scoring on the first shot of the shootout, deking the Hooligans goalie and then beating him low to the glove side for a 1-0 Shamrocks lead. After a pair of saves by Crowley as well as a stop by the Hooligans goalie, it was Doudkin's turn, and he did not disappoint, putting a great move on the goalie before beating him with a sweet backhand to give the Shamrocks a 2-0 advantage with only three shooters left for the Hooligans.

At that point Crowley took over, making two consecutive big saves to seal the victory, including a nice pad save on the final shot, after which he was mobbed by his teammates.

The great performance in the shootout by Crowley capped off an outstanding performance in net by both him and fellow goalie SHAMROCKS PG SP8W

Wilmington High School Sub-Varsity Team season recaps

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com

While the Wilmington High Girls Varsity Lacrosse team struggled to an 0-16 record this season, at the JV level the Wildcats showed plenty of promise for the future of the program, posting a 7-8 record under the direction of first year head coach Kevin Perdios, with several players gaining valuable experience which should help them as soon as next season at the varsity level.

Perdios may have been new to Wilmington High this season, but he has plenty of coaching experience, having coached AAU Baseball in Braintree for several seasons, while also coaching school age kids in town baseball, so he knows what it means to have a team come together. With this young group of lacrosse players, he saw early on that this would be very dedicated group.

"The game that stands out the most to me would probably be our game against Belmont early in the year," Perdios said. "We got hit with injuries that hurt us the first couple games and the Belmont game was one of the first games we had close to a full team back on the field. I could really see the team coming together and turning a corner in a positive way. As a coach it was a fun game to watch."

While success at the JV level does not necessarily guarantee success at the varsity level, work ethic at the JV level will almost certainly carry over to the varsity level, and Perdios saw plenty of that with his young squad.

"I really think the team played well overall," Perdios said. "We definitely got better as the season went on and I can say with confidence that from the first practice to the last practice each girl worked hard and because of that they all improved their game in some way."

One player that Perdios definitely feels will be successful at the next level is freshman Kylie Ducharme. While inexperienced entering the season, she picked up the game very quickly and soon emerged as a star. "We definitely had a few solid players that if they keep working hard and playing, they could make an impact at the varsity level," Perdios said. "The one that sticks out the most to me though would definitely be Kylie. Kylie went from never picking up a lacrosse stick in her life to being one of the teams most reliable players. Kylie is very coachable and brings a positive attitude each an everyday, because of this I without a doubt think she has a future at the varsity level."

The other members of the JV squad included junior Meagan Pennie, sophomores Alexandria DiRenzo, Julia Gordon, Bridget O'Shea, Abigale Perry, Holly Spencer and Amanda Trevisani, along with freshmen Alexa Bittarelli, Antonio Brunetto, Mia DeMarco, Amanda Mercier, Jenna Murray, Michaela O'Brien and Ashley Salerno.

JV BOYS LACROSSE

While their 4-9 record on the season may have fallen short of what they had hoped for this season, the Wilmington High Boys Junior Varsity Lacrosse team made some great strides during the year, and gave signs of being part of a positive rebuilding process for the entire Wilmington High Lacrosse program.

"This season was a building year for the program as a whole," said second year Wildcats coach Zach McDannell. "Last year our JV team struggled with numbers, this year we had a freshman class of ten players and they were led by a few veterans from the year before. It provided a great base to work and improve from and also brought a certain lively character to the team as a whole."

And while the record may not have necessarily reflected it, McDannell also felt that his team showed great improvement throughout the season, as evidenced by a late season win over Arlington Catholic.

"During the Arlington Catholic game the boys really stepped it up and played a fundamentally sound game," McDannell said. "They seemed to take everything they learned throughout the season and apply it in their game play."

While several Wildcats made outstanding contributions to the team this season, there were a few that stood out to McDannell, who in addition to coaching the JV Lacrosse team for the past two seasons, also coached the town's U15 Select team at the youth level this year.

"Thomas Grecco and Ryan Martin had a standout year for the JV team," McDannell said. "Grecco was a long stick middle and Defenseman and Ryan was a midfielder. Both of them were asked to dress for Varsity because of their hard work, talent, and leadership."

The Philadelphia native, who played lacrosse at Keene State and the College of New Jersey, has been impressed with what he has seen with the lacrosse program in Wilmington.

"The lacrosse community in Wilmington has been great and has a strong foundation from the Varsity Level down to the town's youth league," McDannell said.

In addition to the players mentioned above, the Wilmington High Boys Junior Varsity Lacrosse team included freshmen Thomas Baldi, Dylan Clerico, Kyle Collins, Bryan Dunfee, Joe Ganley, Ian MacDonald, Matthew Pendenza, Shane Penney, Shane Roberts, and Patrick Xavier, along with sophomores Dominic Ardizzoni and Jacob Fox, as well as juniors Alan Morris and Cameron Willis.

JV SOFTBALL

Despite having one of the younger junior varsity teams in the Middlesex League, the Wilmington High Junior Varsity Softball team had a very successful season this year going 17-2 on the year with their only losses coming to a very talented Woburn team.

Wildcats coach Billy Norman, in his third year coaching the JV squad after previously coaching the freshman squad for two years was obviously thrilled with his team's outstanding record, particularly given his team's relative youth compared to their competition.

"The team was filled out with nine returning players from last year and four new girls after tryouts," Norman said. "As far as JV teams are concerned we were still very young compared to other teams. While most JV teams consist of freshmen, sophomores, and juniors, this year's Wilmington team after tryouts consisted of three seventh graders, two eighth graders, five freshmen and only three sophomores."

As great as the season turned out to be, it did not start out that way for the Wildcats, who struggled early on before eventually getting it together on their way to a memorable year.

"The team blended well early on during tryouts and worked hard in the gym as the weather kept us inside longer than expected," Norman said. "The season started off slow as a scrimmage in Methuen showed that we as a team had a lot of areas to work on. Our first game of the year against Woburn team proved no better with a loss. A highlight for the game was Abby LeClair hitting two homeruns out of the West Field. From that game on the team was determined to practice hard and play hard and they eventually settled into a winning streak that would continue to Memorial Day."

The Wildcats were led to their long winning streak by some great pitching and defense, which carried them throughout the season. As a team they allowed three runs of fewer in 16 of the 19 games including eight shutouts, while allowing a total of just 38 runs all year. Pitching for the team were seventh grader Audrey Powers and eighth grader Sandra Watne. Powers averaged more than two strikeouts per inning as she had over 120 strikeouts in 61 innings, while Watne averaged more than one strikeout per inning pitching 49 innings with over 80 strikeouts.

Along with the outstanding pitching came great defense. LeClair was a shut down catcher as teams quickly learned they could not steal on her. Sophomore Melanie Hayden was the short stop and proved time and again she was up for the challenge to play a demanding position. Freshman Chase Andersen played a fast third base at a high caliber all year and was a late season call up to varsity. Freshman Tori Gemellaro, also a late season varsity call up, was the teams centerfielder and made numerous running catches through the year.

As a team, the Wildcats averaged less than an error a game and a big part of that was their first basemen eighth grader Bella Kieran and freshman Kiara Nadeau. They made great plays all year long turning a few bad throws into outs. They also had the ability to play outfield when needed. Freshman Ashley MacGilvray was one of the teams most improved defensive players and played second base. Sophomore Cassidy Ross, Alison Celata, and newcomers Sofia Scalfani and Payton Fuller all proved valuable and versatile in the positions they played. They combined to play all the positions, besides pitching, in the field without hesitation which became very important as the season went along and other players would miss games.

While the pitching and defense was great, the Wildcats also got plenty of production on offense as well.

"The offense was probably the most potent I've had in five years as a freshmen or JV coach," Norman said.

WHS Sub-Varsity Team season recaps

"The girls scored over 200 runs and averaged over 11 runs per game. The team batting average was .384 with five girls hitting above that."

LaClair led the way in average and homeruns, while Kieran and Watne led the team in hits and had two homeruns apiece, while Anderson and Scaffani also had a homerun each along with high averages. Gemellaro was the team's catalyst as the leadoff batter and was one of the team leaders in runs, while Powers and Hayden also hit well and were among the team leaders in walks. McGilvray and Nadeau provided key hits in clutch situations and were also among the team leaders in walks while Celata was one of the faster players on the bases for the team and Fuller had a great eye at the plate.

"Despite this being her first year playing high school softball, (Fuller) struck out only twice which was second fewest on the team," Norman said. "And Cassidy Ross was the most improved hitter from last year with an average over .300."

Norman, who has now been with the Wilmington High Softball program for five years, was excited to see the growth of the program this season and was especially pleased to see so many players willing to take on multiple roles to help the program achieve success.

"This year's tryouts produced enough girls to assemble a freshmen team for the first time in three years," Norman said. "With only nine girls on the freshman roster, Alison, Ashley, Kiara, and Sofia all rotated to play freshmen all year long and many times two of them were needed for a game and they did so to help the program so a big thank you to those girls.

"I feel like every year I say this but I was blessed with such a great group of girls. Not only athletically but also with great personalities. This is one of the most well-rounded teams I've had. Like I've said in the past, having seen these girls play this year I can only see the varsity team only getting stronger in the years to come."

FRESHMAN SOFTBALL

It was a short season for the Wilmington High Freshman Softball team, with only ten games, but even in that short period of time, first year coach Patricia D'Agostino was able to see tremendous improvement in her team, while several players improved to the point where they could someday contribute at the varsity level for the Wildcats.

The Wildcats went 4-6 in their somewhat abbreviated season, but more important than their wins and losses to D'Agostino was how much her team improved from the start of the season to the end.

When I was offered the position, I was told you may not have a pitcher or a catcher. When I started working with the girls, I started to see their strengths and weaknesses. They were a well rounded team that worked extremely hard," D'Agostino said. "We were fortunate to play Melrose a few times, and they were spread out over the schedule. It was nice to see how the girls improved each time."

D'Agostino, who graduated from Wilmington High in 1995, and currently works as an Educational Assistant at the school, did not play softball in high school, but the mother of two began playing as an adult and loved the game.

Now living in Waltham with her husband Sam and her children Isabella (14) and Bobby (12), D'Agostino is currently the Vice President of Waltham Girls Softball, and still loves coaching, whether it be at the youth or high school level.

"I started coaching my daughter six years ago and have never looked back. From Tee Ball to U15 I have worked with so many children. Seeing that first hit, making it to first base, catching their first ball, to crossing home plate, it makes my volunteer work so rewarding," D'Agostino said.

"I have made so many relationships with players over the years, that they know I how much I respect them, and I know the feeling is mutual. I tell my players that I am very real and I will always be honest with them and I expect the same from them! Hard work and determination always pay off!"

That hard work and determination seemed to pay dividends for the entire team throughout the season, with a few players standing out and showing great potential for the future, including freshmen Annabelle Kane, Naomi Layon and Emily McKiel and eighth grader Ella Malvone.

Annabelle played first base for me, she ran the ship for me. Her positive attitude win or lose was huge for the team," D'Agostino said. "Naomi never played catcher before, she slipped in the spot nicely and worked so hard at it. Ella wore the world on her shoulders on the mound and Emily played a mean hot corner. With only nine girls on the team, they all gelled and played well."

In addition to the players mentioned above, the other members of the Wildcats Freshman Softball team included Olivia Rogers, Emily Freitas, Bianca Corso, Anja Jensen and Sophie Smith.

FRESHMAN BASEBALL

The Wilmington High Freshman Baseball team had an outstanding season of their own, earning a 10-5 record under the direction of first year coach John Fortes.

Over the course of the season Fortes and the Wildcats played many exciting games on their way to their outstanding record, but a road victory over Stoneham stood out among all others to Fortes for the great all around performance by his entire team.

earned runs 10 strike outs 0 walks)," said Fortes. "Defensively we made zero errors and offensively we gave Jimmy the run support he needed. It was an all-around great team win."

McCarron was one of stars for the Wildcats, but he was hardly alone, as several other players also performed very well for the team and showed great promise for the future.

"Nico Piazza was a great leader for us. Although we did not have captains, Nico stepped into a captain-like role for us by organizing the team and delivering important messages to the team. He also was stellar behind the plate as our starting catcher and was a solid hitter batting in the number two spot every game," Fortes said.

Fortes was also impressed with the efforts of both McCarron and Tyler Fenton on the mound, as they gave the Wildcats a chance to win in nearly every game they pitched.

"Both of them pitched very well in every game," Fortes said. "Both Jimmy and Tyler were very versatile in the field and stood out defensively."

Other standouts for the Wildcats included Garrett Moretto, Andrew O'Brien, Jason Davey and Sam Cedrone.

"Garrett did a lot of everything for us this season including pitching, playing almost every position in the field, and batting in multiple different spots. He has a great attitude and always did what was asked of him and gave his all," Fortes said. "Andrew was our closer and clean-up hitter he brought tremendous power to the middle of our lineup. Jason and Sam were incredible in the outfield all season long. There was not a fly ball Jason couldn't track down making some unbelievable catches robbing opponents of extra base hits. Sam was our number three hitter most of the season and he was one of our better contact hitters. All of these guys and many others have the potential of being great varsity players in the coming years."

While those players certainly stood out, Fortes, who played football, baseball and basketball at North Reading High and football at Endicott College, and is currently an assistant coach with the Wildcats Football team, was pleased with the performance of his entire roster.

Cameron Wyner, who split the duties between the pipes. The duo combined to keep a Hooligans team that had averaged 5.4 goals per game during the season off the scoreboard.

The win put an exclamation point on an outstanding spring season for the Shamrocks, where they outscored their opponents 50-15, with their 35 goal differential being the third largest of any bantam team in any division. The combination of Crowley and Wyner also posted five shutouts on the season, including Sunday's championship game.

In addition to the players mentioned above, other members of the Wilmington

JV BASEBALL

With almost the entire roster graduating from this season's Wilmington High Varsity Baseball team, the Wildcats will be in dire need of reinforcements next season, and with many talented players at the junior varsity level, those reinforcements could be right around the corner, as the young squad went 9-7-1 on the season, but more importantly, improved tremendously as the season went on, winning five of their final six games.

Wildcats JV coach Dennis Ingram, a Wilmington High Hall of Famer after a great career as a three-sport athlete for the Wildcats, knows a thing or two about what it takes to be a varsity athlete, as he is now the Boys Varsity Basketball coach, while also coaching the JV Soccer team. Ingram sees plenty of talent on this year's JV squad, but he knows that talent alone will not bring success at the varsity level.

"The varsity team will graduate a lot of players, hopefully these guys on JV see the opportunity and take full advantage of it," Ingram said. "Individuals and the team improved during the season, and I'm hopeful that that improvement will continue into next year for these guys. But like anything, you can't just wish it. You have to go out and work on your game and push yourself to becoming a better athlete."

This group of Wildcats certainly seemed to become better athletes, or at the very least a better baseball team as the season went on. After starting the season 1-4, the Wildcats went 8-3-1 the rest of the way, with the tie coming in their season finale against Wakefield in a game where the Wildcats opponents wanted to play only one extra inning due to transportation issues.

"I feel like the team was definitely playing their best baseball at the end of the season. We started the season 1-4, and really finished playing some good baseball overall as a team," Ingram said. "We absolutely improved as the season progressed. The spring season has really been different in the last few years, it seems like we are in the gym for three or four weeks at the start of the season because of the weather. This was a good JV team record wise, but also just a great group of guys top to bottom."

Leading the way offensively for the Wildcats was sophomore Brendan George who batted .404, with a .553 slugging percentage, including a team high 19 hits on the season, while fellow sophomore Bailey Smith batted .327 with six doubles, 18 stolen bases and 21 runs scored.

Freshman Derek Gallucci meanwhile led the team with 16 RBI, 15 runs scored and 12 walks, while batting .340 on the season, and sophomore Jared Venezia chipped in with a .326 batting average.

On the mound, the Wildcats were led by junior Nick Moore, who led the team with 31 innings pitched, while posting an outstanding ERA of 0.67, while striking out 34 batters on the season. Sophomore Harry Serounian pitched in with an ERA of 1.52 in 27 2/3 innings, while fellow sophomore Tristan Ciampa posted an ERA of 3.10 in 29 1/3 innings.

In addition to the players mentioned above, the rest of the Wilmington High JV team included freshman Andrew Gallucci, sophomores Joseph Hartzell, Ryan Packer, Vincent Scalfani and Harry Serounian, along with junior Michael Santini.

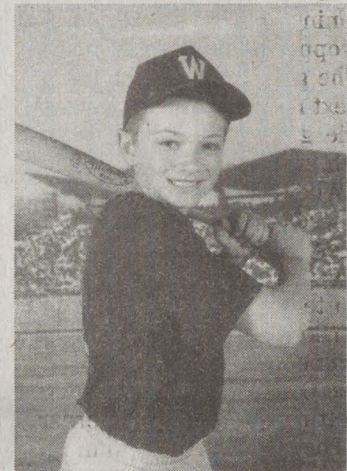

Little League Senior Profiles: Aucon and Worob

This is the third in a series of articles celebrating the former Wilmington Little League seniors playing on the Wilmington High Baseball team. Little League's motto is courage, character, and loyalty. Through playing with and against each other these student athletes are the embodiment of this motto. This year Wilmington Little League is represented by seniors Jarred Aucoin, Matt Rideout, Tom Worob, Dylan Bresnahan, Carl Beatrice, Graham Smith, Danby Gracia, Ben Maynard, Riley Zaya, Chris Grecco, and Jack Boyle.

This week's profiles include Jarred Aucoin and Tommy Worob.

JARRED AUCOIN

Coaches are always looking for a certain type of player to help make their teams successful. They look for players who show strong character, respect, positive attitude and give 100 percent all the time. Jarred Aucoin fits the criteria coaches are looking for, you could say he is the prototypical coaches player. Always ready to play, he is the type of player a coach can count on. During summer games he would come from working an 8-hour shift and play in the heat. Give me nine Jarred Aucoin's and I would win a lot of games.

Jarred began his WLL career in Rookie ball playing for the Thunder, coached by Fred Russell and his father Joe. All the way through the Majors, he would play the next five seasons for his Father and Coach Russell. He began to develop as a ball player on the small diamonds of the North and Glen Road fields, learning how to play the game. Playing with friends and having his Dad as a coach, those early years were fun. Jarred's best memory during those times was the excitement of being able to hit the ball. It was on those teams that he started catching, which would be his position for most of his WLL career. It was also the beginning of many great friendships and the opportunity to play and have fun.

Jarred was drafted by the Indians as an 11 year old and spent two seasons playing for Coach Fred Russell. He made the All Star tournament team for both his 11 and 12 year old seasons. Used primarily as a catcher he was a valuable asset not only for his defense but also his bat. He helped lead the Indians to the playoff semifinals in his final year. Whether during practice, playing games or just hanging out at Rotary watching the other teams play, he remembers having a lot of fun with his teammates. His

Orioles overtake Red Sox to capture Major League Division Championship title

The Orioles and Red Sox met in a best two out of three series in the Wilmington Little League playoff finals.

The Red Sox were 3-0 in the playoffs beating the White Sox, Orioles, and A's to earn a trip to the finals. The Orioles were 2-1 with wins over the White Sox and Yankees with a loss to the Red Sox.

Orioles 10 Red Sox 5
The Orioles struck first with four runs in the first inning of game 1. Bobby Cyr lead off with a single, followed by a walk to Ayden Balter. Lukas Porier and Braden Huddleston also scored in their half of the inning to give the Orioles a 4-0 lead. The Red Sox came back with three runs of their own in their half of the inning with hits from Nick Ackerman, Cam Kelley, and Mike Maselli. James Caples also scored a run to tie the game for the Red Sox at 4-4. Red Sox starter Sofia Scalfani settled down in the second, striking out two Orioles. Liam Milne came in to take the mound in the second inning for the Orioles and retired the Red Sox in three batters. The Orioles scored two more runs in the top of the third inning, the highlight being a single by Braden Huddleston to give the Orioles a 6-4 lead.

The Red Sox got hits from Maselli and Ostebo, but Milne got out of a the jam with a strikeout to end the third inning. As the top of the fourth inning started, the game was stopped due to lightning. The game would resume the next night at the point where the game was halted in the 4th inning.

When the game resumed on Tuesday night, Cam Kelley took the mound for the Red Sox. Cam retired all three batters in the Orioles fourth, striking out two. Liam Milne continued pitching for the Orioles in the 4th inning, getting the Red Sox in order.

The Orioles came up in the fifth inning and with two outs, Zach McKeill hit a double, but was stranded to end the inning. The Red Sox then came up in their half of the fifth with a lead off double by Zach Rodgers. Milne retired the next two batters, but then gave up a single to Nick Ackerman, scoring Rogers to make the score 6-5 Orioles.

The Orioles then brought in Ayden Balter to pitch. Cam Kelley singled to give the Red Sox the tying and go ahead run on base. Orioles second basemen Jake McLean then made a great play to get the Orioles out of the inning.

Ayden Balter lead off the sixth inning with a home run over the right field fence. Lukas Porier followed with a single, Jacob Doherty doubled, and Braden Huddleston doubled to give the Orioles a 10-5 lead going to the bottom of the sixth inning.

Lars Ostebo lead off the bottom of the 6th inning with a double for the Red Sox. Balter then retired the next three hitters, two on strikeouts, to give the Orioles a 10-5 win and a 1-0 lead in the series.

Game 2:

Orioles 9, Red Sox 5

The Red Sox were the visitors in game two and took an early lead in the first inning. Cam Kelley singled and Mike Maselli walked and then scored on a double by Lars Ostebo to give the Red Sox a 2-0 lead.

The Orioles came back in their half of the first with a walk by Ayden Balter, a single by Jacob Doherty, and a double by Braden Huddleston to score two runs and tie the game at 2-2.

Orioles pitcher Lukas Porier had to come out of the game due to injury and was replaced by Jacob Doherty. Sofia Scalfani singled to lead off the inning for the Red Sox, but was later thrown out at the plate on a great play by Bobby Cyr to get the Orioles out of the inning. Red Sox starting pitcher Michael Maselli retired the Orioles in order in the second, including two strikeouts.

In the third inning, Jacob Doherty retired the Red Sox in order. Brendan Fitzgerald lead off the bottom of the third inning for the Orioles Almas at short to end the threat.

In the bottom of the fourth, Team White returned serve again as Bryson singled, Pereira walked, and Eric Banda singled. All three scored as hard hits by Kitnov and Poyant cleared the bases. Jake Banda doubled but was unable to advance.

In the top of the fifth, Team Blue's Jordan was hit by a pitch while Gray, Charlie Roy, and Kennedy hit the ball hard but pitcher Almas kept them from scoring with a nice play at the mound and some other fielding help from O'Connell, Santini, and Jake Banda.

The game was still close thanks to the defense of Team Blue's Jackson Hegerty and Almeda among others but the bottom of the inning saw Team White's relentless bats get right back in gear. Watson doubled and O'Connell drove him in. Santini singled and Stokes doubled to drive him in. Gronemeyer's single plated Stokes. Biscan led off the top of the sixth with a single off of closer Gronemeyer but two strikeouts and a great short-hop pickup by Kitnov at first ended the game.

Team White's manager Stew Pruslin remarked, "I was not only proud of my four Astros players for representing our team so well, but I was impressed with everyone on both teams. It was exciting to coach such a high-level collection of players from different teams who came together for a common goal."

with a double and would later score. Bobby Cyr, Ayden Balter, and Jacob Doherty all scored to give the Orioles a 6-2 lead. Michael Maselli was also injured and had to come out of the game on the mound. He would be replaced by Erin McCarthy.

Cam Kelley lead off the 4th, with a double for the Red Sox. Michael Maselli and Lars Ostebo then hit back to back home runs to cut the Orioles lead to 6-5. Doherty would then retire the next three Red Sox batters in the fourth.

Zach McKeill and Aiden Swift both had singles in the Orioles' fourth, but did not score. James Caples made a great double play for the Red Sox.

Doherty was again strong in the top of the fifth on the mound for the Orioles, retiring the Red Sox in order. In the bottom of the fifth for the Orioles, Brendan Fitzgerald walked and scored and was followed by a single by Bobby Cyr, a walk by Ayden Balter and a two out single by Braden Huddleston, to give the Orioles a 9-5 lead.

Ayden Balter came in to pitch for the Orioles in the top of the sixth inning. After a first out strikeout, Nick Ackerman singled. The next batter hit a hard hit ball to Orioles second baseman Bobby Cyr, who made a great play making a catch and double play to give the Orioles the victory and 2018 Major League Championship.

Triple-A Playoff Opener Astros 11, Rays 10

In an epic back and forth game, the Astros outlasted the Rays 11-10 on a dramatic sixth inning walkoff bomb by Joe Gronemeyer scoring Luke Kitanov. The game saw some wild swings.

The Rays erupted for six first-inning runs despite some great fielding by centerfielder Joe Fennelly and right fielder Ethan Affthim. Will Poyant came in and really shut them down for the next several innings though.

The Rays got good pitching from Riley Young and Luke Cushing. The Astros made solid contact in the bottom of the first off the bats of Ronnan Scaffiddi, John Roofe, and Kevin Pruslin but the Rays' fielders wouldn't let any of them get on base. Kyle McDonald walked and Kitanov singled in the second but still the Astros couldn't push anyone across.

Meanwhile, the Rays had timely hitting from the top six of the their order: Tommy Pereira, Allen Vicente Ken Branley, Jake Arsenault, and Luke Cushing all went 2-for-3 in the game. Gavin Burke was one for three and Braedon Almas was on fire going three for three.

On the other side, the Astros' bats finally came alive in the third. Fennelly walked, Evan Cummings singled, and Jake Cronin's sharp grounder scored Fennelly for the team's first run. Subsequent singles by Joe Cavanaugh, Tim Watson, Scaffiddi, Roofe, and Kevin Pruslin plated four more runs and Poyant's double pushed across the last run of the inning. Kitanov walked and scored in the fourth as Fennelly singled and Cummings and Cronin made solid contact. Cavanaugh walked and scored in the fifth while Watson and Roofe both doubled to plate another run.

The Rays scored two in the top of the sixth to take a one run lead, including the go-ahead RBI on Almas' third hit of the game. This set the scene for the dramatic ending.

The Astros' Poyant doubled for the second time and scored on Kitanov's single. Gronemeyer then blasted a double scoring Kitanov for the walkoff win.

Richardson honored

A record-setting eight Northern Essex Community College student athletes have earned Academic All-American honors for the 2017 - 2018 year from the National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA).

The eight honorees represent a new single-year high for the NECC Knights' athletic program. They join 17 other previous NECC All-American recipients.

In order to be eligible for the award, student athletes must obtain a grade point average (GPA) of 3.6 or higher for the academic year. Based on the GPA, student athletes are named either First, Second or Third Team Academic All-American.

The All-American student athletes include Katelyn Richardson of Wilmington, a member of the cross country and track and field teams, earned Second Team honors with a 3.85 GPA.

For Richardson it was an All-American sweep; she also earned the award from the United States Track and Field and Cross Country Coaches Association for her sixth place finish in the high jump at the NJCAA National Championships.

Wilmington Little League Profiles: Tommy Worob

favorite part of playing for the Indians were the pool parties at Coach Russell's house. Jarred played on the Indians with future Wildcats Riley Zaya and Jack Boyle.

Jarred not only played for the WLL spring teams, he played Jimmy Fund, Pony and Northeast teams in the summer. He was a member of the first Wilmington Middle School team and helped lead the Wildcats to a 16-5 record and a trip to the semifinals of the playoffs. It was during that Middle School season that he transitioned full time to first base. He was also selected to play in the All Star game.

Aucoin capped his WLL career as a valuable member of the 2016 Northeast team which was the first Wilmington team to win a Northeast League Division championship. Jarred played nine of the ten WLL seasons he was eligible, only missing his final season due to making the WHS varsity team.

This will be Jarred's third year playing Varsity Baseball for the Wildcats. He played on the 2017 Middlesex Freedom division championship team last year. During his Freshman year, he played on the JV baseball team. Jarred also played four years of WHS Hockey and 14 years for Wilmington Youth Hockey.

Jarred's parents, Gail and Joe Aucoin remember watching all the kids grow and seeing the difference each year. His father also enjoyed coaching in the earlier days. Jarred always appreciated his Mom, Dad, brother Joe, and sister Nicole for supporting him over the years, cheering him on, and always attending his games.

Jarred will be attending Wentworth Institute of Technology in the Fall, majoring in Construction Management. He is looking to parlay his past three summers working full time in the construction field into a career.

TOMMY WOROB

For Tommy Worob intensity is the name of the game. Between the lines he goes 100 mph all the time. The uniform may be dirty and shirt not tucked in, but if you ask him to run through a wall he would. Tommy is a quiet man of few words who never backs down. He is always ready for a new challenge. Pencil him in the lineup and you know exactly what you are going to get. If there is one player on the varsity team that every teammate would want next to them in a fox hole prepping for battle, it would be Tommy Worob.

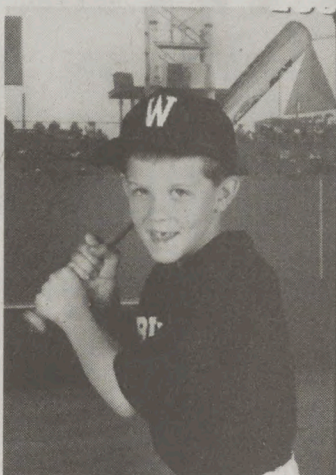

Tommy began his WLL career playing for the Avalanche coached by Bob Ducharme and Dave Woods. Tommy fell in love with the game playing on the small diamonds of the North and Glen Road. From the beginning he had a natural talent for baseball. During his early years he enjoyed playing with his friends and the friendly competition that came along with his friends on opposing teams. Even as a young ball player the intensity was always there. He remembers Rookie ball giving him the opportunity to play every position.

Tommy was drafted by the A's as an 11 year old and spent two seasons playing for Coach Mike Gracia. He is really appreciative of not only of what he learned from Coach Gracia, but also from the A's assistant coach Bob Butters. Tommy was selected to the All Star team in his final Major season. His fondest memory was playing for and winning the championship with the A's during his twelve year old season. He was an important cog in that championship season, playing wherever needed, even spending time behind the plate.

The other highlight during his time in the majors was making the All Star team and getting to play in the All Star tournament. During his time with the A's Tommy played with current teammates Danny Gracia and Dylan Bresnahan.

Tommy Worob, as a younger player in the WLL system, and then as a senior on the WHS Varsity Baseball team.

Tommy continued his WLL career playing two years of Juniors. In addition to playing eight years of WLL baseball he also played for the Jimmy Fund, Pony and Northeast teams in the summer. He was a member of the first Wilmington Middle School team. His versatility and ability to play all over the diamond helped lead the Wildcats to a 16-5 record and a trip to the semifinals of the playoffs. He also played on the 2016 Northeast team, which was the first Wilmington team to win a Northeast League Division championship.

This will be Tommy's second year playing Varsity Baseball for the Wildcats. He was a member of the 2017 Middlesex Freedom division championship team in his Junior year as well as a League All Star. He played his first two years on the Freshman and JV teams. He also played four years on the WHS Hockey team, and two years on the WHS Golf team.

Tommy's parents, Jean Marie and Chris Worob, always made the time to see him play and are proud of the player that he has become. Tommy is very appreciative of the support he received from his parents and sister Samantha. This fall he is planning on studying business at Providence College where he will be joining his sister Samantha.
